

Touring Exhibitions Engineer

Natural History Museum

The Natural History Museum is one of the world's leading museums, internationally recognised for its dual role as a centre of excellence in scientific research and as a leader in the presentation of natural history through exhibitions, public programmes, publications and the web.

The work also requires the post holder to resolve a wide range of issues including transport, logistics, mechanical handling, etc. The post holder also supports the renewal and refurbishment of temporary exhibitions, works to a planned programme of activities and responds to unexpected maintenance tasks. Work will be scheduled in advance but some short notice work may be required.

The post requires frequent travel overseas as well as maintenance work carried out at our workshops in the Museum and at our Wandsworth site in south west London.
