

Project Manager, Business & IP Centre Regional Roll-Out

British Library

St. Pancras, London (with extensive UK travel)

£30,768 - £34,853 pa + benefits

Fixed Term, 1 year

Since it opened in 2006, the British Library's Business & IP Centre has welcomed over 300,000 people, supporting the aspirations of inventors and SMEs to start and grow their business.

In a new and exciting phase of development funded by the Intellectual Property Office, we are now seeking an accomplished Project Manager to write our 'blueprint' of service to develop a regional network of Centres in six major cities across the UK.

This post will be the central point of contact for the regional projects and responsible for engagement with Councils, local business support stakeholders and potential customers. You will conduct feasibility studies and liaise with our library partners to produce a comprehensive project plan culminating in the operational delivery of a second pilot Centre by March 2013.

With proven project management experience, the ability to persuade and influence a wide range of stakeholders and excellent planning and organisational skills, you'll also need to demonstrate knowledge of business enterprise networks, intellectual property and the educational sector.

Your ability to work flexibly and travel within the UK will also be crucial in this role.

For further information and to apply online for this role, please visit the British Library careers website using the 'more information' link below.

For further information about the Business & IP Centre and our work, please visit <http://www.bl.uk/bipc>

Closing Date: 25 May 2012

Location:	St. Pancras, London
Category:	Marketing
Duration:
Type of Contract:	Contract
Hours:	Full Time
added: May 11, 2012	deadline: May 25, 2012

More information: http://gs10.globalsuccessor.com/fe/tpl_britishlibrary01.asp?newms=jj&id=88950&aid=17303