

Natural History Museum

We are looking for a talented, experienced Business Development Manager to secure new, high value corporate partnerships in line with our new corporate fundraising strategy. This role will work closely with the Head of Corporate Partnerships and colleagues and teams across the whole Museum, to maximise relationships between companies and the Museum to the greatest value for the whole Museum.

The successful candidate must have experience in corporate fundraising, ideally including sponsorship, and securing significant new income. You will also be commercially and culturally aware and have sound experience of varied stakeholder management.

Educated to Degree level (or equivalent) and excellent communication skills are also essential for this post.
